Indonesian plane with 54 aboard crashes

JAKARTA (Indonesia): The wreckage of a passenger plane which went missing on Sunday has been found by the Indonesian military off the south coast of the country an aviation source said.

Lost control

The Air Asia plane lost contact with air traffic control and the last known position before it went off the radar screens was near the Dendam Island, said an aviation source said.

A military official said the plane was a Boeing 737-800, which was flying from Surabaya to Singapore. It had taken off from Surabaya on Sunday morning.

The plane had 152 people on board, including 49 children and 15 infants.

A military team was sent to the area to recover the bodies of the victims and to investigate the cause of the crash.

There were 54 people on board when the plane disappeared from radar screens. The airline later confirmed that all 54 people were passengers on the flight.

SUNDAY NOON: Police stationed outside the military airbase. The government had declared a day of national mourning and had ordered all schools and offices to be closed.

Prisoner grabs gun, terrorists NIMHANS

Attempts to persuade him to surrender, commandoes shoot him dead

New Delhi: The government had declared a day of national mourning and had ordered all schools and offices to be closed.

The incident took place at a military airbase in the national capital. At least 10 people were killed and 16 others were injured in the shootout.

The government had declared a day of national mourning and had ordered all schools and offices to be closed.

On Sunday, the government had declared a day of national mourning and had ordered all schools and offices to be closed.

Domestic airfares can’t be capped: CCI chief

Vinod Chawla, the chairman of the Competition Commission of India (CCI), had said that capping of pricing was not in line with the philosophy of deregulation. He had also said that capping of pricing was not in line with the philosophy of deregulation.

In a rare gesture, Crown Prince, five other leaders, and a large group of supporters, gathered around the Grand Mosque, the world’s largest, and made gestures of unity and support. The gesture was seen as a sign of the country’sresolve to overcome the challenges it faces.

Despite Vayapar cloud, BJP scores big in M.P. civic polls

The Vayapar party has failed to do the job of the Bharatiya Janata Party, forming a cartel to fix the prices of goods and services in the state.

The fair-trade regulator has been investigating the cartel for three years and has not found any evidence of anti-competitive behavior.

The fair-trade regulator has been investigating the cartel for three years and has not found any evidence of anti-competitive behavior.

The fair-trade regulator is also looking into the practices of the cartel and has received complaints from traders and consumers.

The fair-trade regulator is also looking into the practices of the cartel and has received complaints from traders and consumers.